PHARMACY LEADERSHIP SOCIETY
19th Annual Leadership Conference
Hosted By:
Beta Chi Chapter
Phi Lambda Sigma Leadership Society
Medical University of South Carolina

Program Overview

This interactive, virtual workshop is uniquely designed to help participants discover and unleash their inner leader. Through expert-led introspective experience, attendees will explore their personal values, interests, strengths and needs, and learn how to integrate and align their “whole-selves” to effectively lead within and beyond.

This program can deliver breakthrough results to anyone with a growth mindset, including those who are:

- Seeking to be a more effective leader in their current position
- Just starting their career
- Feeling “stuck”
- Seeking more job satisfaction
- Looking to change career paths or re-enter the job market

Learning Objectives

At completion of this program, participants will be able to:

1. List the five themes of the PLEI Leadership framework
2. Describe the themes of curiosity, integrity, and “responsibility” and the importance of their application throughout the workshop
3. List the four domains of a “whole person” and describe how they can be applied to enhance team engagement, empower others, and improve organizational performance
4. Explain how the integration and alignment of one’s Values, Interests, Strengths and Needs (VISN) can promote perseverance and passion for long-term goals (grit), and serve as the bases for PLEI’s “Leader Within” curriculum
5. List your unique combination of top strengths
6. Describe the value of opportunities that allow an individual to leverage their strengths to make their unique contribution to the world and foster a sense of self-worth
7. Discuss key considerations in deciding when to invest time and energy into leveraging strengths vs. improving weaknesses
8. Apply the perspective of a “curious learner” (vs. a “judgmental knower”) when working with individuals whose strengths are different from your own
9. Compare and contrast the importance of well-rounded leaders vs. leadership teams
10. List the benefits of investing time and energy in activities which elicit personal joy
11. Identify common reasons individuals pursue activities that do NOT elicit joy
12. Describe the potential costs of a strictly goal-driven approach to life
13. Apply the three factors of the “ACE test” to identify current pursuits that meet the criteria of “authentic interests”
14. Describe the inadequacy of a life which only involves pursuits that leverage one’s strengths and serve one’s interests
15. Generate a list of values which, when honored, deliver a sense of personal meaning and purpose
16. Distinguish a personal cause from a personal calling
17. Apply the mindset of a “response-able player” in discussing where you choose to spend your time and energy
18. List the basic human needs which are most often sacrificed in modern society
19. Discuss the costs of such sacrifices on individuals and others
20. Identify the needs they most often struggle to meet
21. Apply the principle of intrapersonal integrity in discussing which personal needs you tend to sacrifice and why
22. Create a personal VISN radar chart
23. Apply a mindset of self-compassion while utilizing the chart’s results to foster self-awareness and assess the “workability” of your current situation
24. Apply the principles of acceptance and conscious choice in determining whether or not to make changes to their current situation
25. Use human-centered design principles to chart a new path forward (if necessary)
